

My Beloved daughter:

You are a treasure to Me! In My eyes you are a royal crown and a glittering jewel. Over every part of your life that has felt lost, forsaken, or like a failure, I see you and your heart. My desire is to heal all those feelings with a deep knowing and believing that I have called you My own. Over everything you call "Forsaken" may you hear Me call you, "My Delight is in her!"

Know that it is Me who will accomplish all that concerns you; that I will complete the good work I started in you. And that even when you are unable to carry through and be faithful, I will always be Faithful to you. My divine power has given you everything you need to live this life in fullness and godliness through the truth, knowledge, and My promises in My Word.

I know that in this messy world you will have troubles, trials and pressures—but take heart because I have overcome this world! Do not let your heart be troubled or fearful—hold tight to the peace I give you and take courage!

I promise to work ALL the details of your life out for your good and the glory of My kingdom. No pain, hurt, disappointment or trial is too small to miss my notice or to slip through My fingers—I will put all things under subjection to my reign and all will be set right. I am the author of your faith and it is only I who get to declare the end from the beginning—and your story hasn't seen all the flourishes, blessings and good things I will establish in you. Don't worry about your life because I will accomplish My good pleasure in you, daughter.

May you hear the song of delight I sing over your precious life; and may you sense My presence with you, mighty to save you. May you let My love wash over you to quiet the wrestling in your soul and may you know how I rejoice over you, daughter!

*With all My love,
Your Father, Prince of Peace, Counselor, Bridegroom, Savior, Friend, King of Kings, your Emmanuel, Faithful & True, I AM*
